

ZENIT GROUP

TRAINING DAYS

Training Days are a training scheme open to distributors, dealers, installers and Zenit service centres and are designed to provide in-depth coverage of various topics relating to the operation, selection, maintenance and repair of submersible electric pumps for various applications, wastewater lifting stations, and aeration and mixing systems.

Apart from the training sessions (theoretical in the classroom and practical in the workshop), they are an opportunity for visiting the production plant.

Participants are able to observe all phases of the production process, from quality control to logistics management by way of hydraulic tests in the tank, machining and finished product assembly.

Training Days last two days and take place at the Headquarters at San Cesario sul Panaro (Modena, Italy).

As well as the standard programme, customised training with contents tailored to our partners' needs can also be provided.

The training sets out not only to transfer knowledge of Zenit solutions, but also to listen to our partners' needs, in order to improve our products and services.
